

Brighten Spirits with Holiday Lights

If you are like most tri-valley families, a favorite holiday tradition is driving around neighboring homes looking for dazzling Christmas lights, amazing enough to leave grown-ups inspired and the kids cheering in the back seat. Without a clear itinerary to help navigate through the neighborhoods, finding the best homes to admire, beyond the traditional lights, can be tricky.

The answer is simple. Go to www.lightsofthevalley.com, where visitors can click on their community link to find the most elaborate homes to admire right in their own backyard, with addresses included. The website even includes thumbnail pictures of the private residences that can be clicked on to enlarge for detail, so visitors can know ahead of time if they want to check it out or not. Don't be surprised if you find yourself humming a Christmas melody on the way home – this festivity can make even the biggest scrooge change their tune with a smile.
